Letter of Authorship, Copyright Transfer, and Declaration of Originality

Brazil, Rio de Janeiro, 12th July 2020.

The undersigned presents before the Editorial and Executive Committee of the Mexican Journal of Economics and Finance Nueva Época (REMEF for its acronym in Spanish) the article entitled:

Notional Defined Contribution (NDC) Schemes: a pension system alternative

I declare that I comply with the following aspects, in accordance with the good practices, guidelines, and editorial policies dictated by REMEF: (All boxes must be considered in order to be accepted)

Originality and unpublished nature of the work

☒ The article is original, unpublished, and of a scientific nature.

☒ The article has not been sent, nor will it be sent simultaneously to another journal or publication system during the editorial process or when it has already been published.

☒ All the data and information of the work are elaborated by the authors or, if applicable, they are correctly cited. There has been no plagiarism or scientific fraud. In the event that the editors or reviewers demonstrate that fraud or plagiarism has been committed, I accept the penalty that the journal imposes in this matter.

☒ In case of unpublished data, the reference is adequately presented in the article—the data of the responsible person or organization.

Authorship

☒ The people who sign this document are the intellectual authors and they participated in the investigation and creation process of the article.

☒ The authors acknowledge that they have not omitted any person responsible for the preparation of this manuscript.

In addition, I declare that I accept the REMEF Policies detailed below:

☒ I have read and agree with the Editorial Policies, Guidelines, and Code of Ethics of the Mexican Journal of Economics and Finance.
http://www.remef.org.mx/index.php/remef/pages/view/directrices http://www.remef.org.mx/index.php/remef/pages/view/politica http://www.remef.org.mx/index.php/remef/pages/view/codigo_etica

☒ The publication of the article implies the total cession of the property rights (copyright) to the Mexican Journal of Economics and Finance, in charge of the Mexican Institute of Financial Executives (Instituto Mexicano de Ejecutivos de Finanzas A. C).

☒ I am aware that the article submitted will be subject to double-blind arbitration and accepted with two positive opinions. In the event of any conflict, I accept that the final unappealable decision will be dictated by the Editor-in-Chief of REMEF.

Copyright transfer and distribution of contents

☒ The publication of the article implies the total transfer of the property rights (copyright) to the Mexican Journal of Economics and Finance, in charge of the Mexican Institute of Financial Executives. The journal reserves the right to reproduce all or part of the work in print and/or electronic media, free access, and adherence to the Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial 4.0 International license.

The journal reserves the right to incorporate any format changes it deems necessary for the final publication of the article.

Funding recognition: (consider if applicable) It's not applicable for this research.

☐ Adequate recognition is made of all sources of funding granted to conduct the research.

Additional observations

We are grateful for the opportunity to present our review article and we believe that it is adherent to the scope of this Journal and its theme has not been explored in the REMEF.
We also expect that this research can contribute to spreading this theme through Latin America, expanding the debate of researches and policy makers about pension system reforms.

Correspondence author:

Name: Gustavo da Costa Morais

E-mail: gustavomorais@id.uff.br

Institution: Fluminense Federal University, Brazil

Postal code: 24417-300 (Brazil)

Sincerely:

The authors

Gustavo da Costa Morais
Name and signature (Author 1)

Carolina Cardoso Novo
Name and signature (Author 2)

Miriam P. Inéras
Name and signature (Author 3)

Name and signature (Author 4)